The Trigg Company moved to dismiss the pittion on the ground that the petitioners have not provable claims sufficient under the law to enable them to ark to have the company adjudicated a bankrupt, and that their claims are not properly certified.

The motion of the defendant is a technical one, which may delay final actions somewhat, but whether it is sufficient to obviate involuntary bankruptcy is uncertain. At the hearing to-day the face of the Trigg Company will be decided. Eminent counsel are arrayed in the case Munford, Hunton, Williams and Anderson, R. G. Mr. Koiner gave each of his correspondents the information desired in regard to Virginia and the advantages the State offered homeseekers.

The Rural New Yorker, one of the largest agricultural papers in the country, speaking of Virginia and Commissioner Koiner, has the following:

"We have many letters of inquiry from readers who wish to know what agricultural advantages the State of Virginia has to offer. We can best refer them to the last report of the State Commissioner of Agriculture. This is an excellent document of one hundred and seventy pages, which clearly states what Virginia can supply to the homeseeker as well as to the resident farmer. By all means send to Hon. G. W. ### STATE TO RENT CITY HALL ROOMS

Important Meeting of Grounds and Buildings Committee To-Morrow.

The Grounds and Buildings Committee will meet to-morrow night at the City Hall at a o'clock when the deal by which the Commonwealth will acquire possession of four rooms on the fourth floor of the building to be used by the recently created Corporation Commission, will be consummated. It is the privilege of this bedy to name a rental agure, it having been a sutherized by an ordinance passed by the Council and signed by Mayor Taylor.

Freezy indications point to the early occupancy of the rooms by the Corporation Commission, and it is predicted they will be thoroughly fitted up by the first tion Commission, and it is predicted they will be thoroughly fitted up by the first of June.

Under the ordinance of the Grounds and Buildings Committee is empowered to fix a just and equitable rental for the rooms, and in the event the Commonwealth is willing to pay the price the deal will be closed. There is not the sightest probability of the State and city falling out ever the rental figure, and it is a foregree Conclusion that the commission will locate in the City Hall.
The Grounds and Buildings Committee originally favored giving the desired rooms free of cost to the State, and recommended this course to the Council. The sport was amended in such a manifer as to require a fair rental for the space, and it is now incumbent on the committee are in favor of evending this feature as much as possible and making the rental exceedingly nominal.

Governor Sends Disapproval of Norfolk Primary Bill-Senate Committee to Provide Lee Statue for Washington, Appointed.

The General Assembly by joint resolu-tion adopted last week, adjourned yester-day at noon, after the presiding officers had signed the enrolled bills and the had signed the enrolled bills and the paymaster had discharged his functions. The only feature of the merely formal session was the return to the Senate by the Governor with a veto mesage of Senate bill 377, known as the "Norfolk primary bill." The Lieutenant-Governor named the commission on the part of the Senate to look after the construction of the bronze statue of Lee. There were less than twenty-five members present, fourteen in the House and eight in the Senate. The adjournment was until November 12th.

WITH THE SENATE.

The session of the Senate yesterday lasted nearly an hour, but little was done further than the signing of the enrolled bills by the president, and the announcement of a commission on the part of the Senate to have charge of the Lee statue matter. paymaster had discharged his functions
